CHANGING TIMES

The global pandemic temporarily eclipsed progressive design trends and encouraged many to update their bathroom not only for health and wellbeing, but also with a focus on hygiene.

We saw many people redirect funds into upgrading areas of their home with luxury items after lockdowns. This has since given way to more frugal and ethical purchases where quality as its best possible value is researched endlessly.

Consequently, we've noticed some products and stylings have dropped off the bathroom fashion radar, including the go-to Subway tile finish, Granite, Terrazzo, modern farmhouse styling including sliding barn doors, rustic touches shiplap, and shaker cabinets. There's less gold on tapware and accessories, technology influences continue, colours have warmed, and tiles have changed focus.

In summary, our bathrooms are individual spaces tailored to our lifestyles – there are no hard and fast rules to conform to, but there is always demand for these rooms to be modern, functional, easy to clean, well-lit and ventilated.

In a post-pandemic world, the desire for these spaces to meet all possible physical, mental, emotional, and social needs has never been more important, so here are the trends we expect to see soar.

HEALTH AND HYGIENE

Lockdowns around the globe have alerted the world to the value of a spacious, separate toilet complete with a handbasin within a family home. In a similar vein, we're seeing more demand for additional space on bathroom vanities and work surfaces for soaps and sanitisers, toilet seats are being upgraded to increase comfort and hygiene and the Japanese trend for bidet applications within a toilet seat is increasingly sought after. Not to mention, contactless tapware for those driven by good hand hygiene.

CRAVING CONVENIENCE

Tidy and tasteful organisational options are a bathroom go-to this season with wall spaces being maximised for storage and function. Similarly, mirrored cabinets have never been so popular and niches in tiled shower walls and beside toilets are on the rise, as well as convenient, space-saving storage solutions for appliances such as electric toothbrushes. Where space allows, large-scale mirrors are being incorporated, and edges continue to soften on baths and basins

COLOURS

Colours are of course influenced by the availability of natural light in the bathroom itself, however, there is a trend towards warmer whites and the textured earthy tones of charcoals and burnt toffee for those seeking a more 'cave-like' experience. Yet nature trumps, with Eucalyptus Greens and Indigo Blues predicted to lead the colour trends for this season. Wallpaper is still on the rise; the bolder and more textural the better. In terms of tapware and accessories, carbonised metal or brushed iron are proving popular.

PRODUCT

NZ availability or NZ-made, and products with a story will capture the imagination of the design-focused home. When it comes to bathing, freestanding or semi enclosed baths are forecast to be popular, and multiple shower outlets are being sought after. Vessel basins have become the optimum in basin styling, and heated towel rails have morphed into innovative sleek design features tailored to the room styling.

DESIGN AND STYLING

Japanese culture continues its strong inspiration for interiors and materials, in particular stone and veined marbles are replacing granite, and timber vanities (restrained in shape and style) in a light-coloured stain will become the dominant product in the bathroom. However, tried, and true slick white vanities are still well up the list. When it comes to tiles, we are trending to either high gloss and textured finish or large stone or veined tiles. Similarly, walls and floors are being treated with the same finish for some big scale impact. If it's luxury you seek, improved bathroom acoustics and integrated sound systems drive those seeking the ultimate of spa experiences.

RENOVATION

More time at home, more time inside and less time to spend money elsewhere has resulted in bathroom renovations becoming an increasingly popular and fulfilling activity. As people use their own bathrooms more, they realise that they have become outdated and old, or don't fit the range of functionality an entire household need. Because of this, we've seen many more large-scale bathroom renovations.

Making sure that your bathroom fits your needs, from toilets and showers to basins and tapware, is the primary purpose of a bathroom. Bathrooms are a utility room, helping you get clean, get ready and feel good doing it. A bathroom renovation can help to make sure that your bathroom is fulfilling all your needs in a way that is most comfortable to you. Nobody wants to have their early mornings or late nights made harder by difficult and uncomfortable bathrooms.

Bathroom renovations also come with the choice to give your bathroom a stylistic update. Whether or not you're just looking to freshen up your current aesthetic or give your bathroom a complete overhaul into a completely new look, there's no better time than when updating the function and features of your bathroom.

Modernity and simplicity are the more popular style now. Modern bathrooms have a calming and soothing effect on bathroom users, something that many of us can never get too much of.

As bathroom technology and styles change, so does the need to update our bathrooms. The sheer amount of thought that goes into a bathroom renovation can be overwhelming – our bathroom experts love nothing more than to work with you, to help you create the bathroom of your dreams, in both function and style.

VANITIES

So how important is your vanity, really? The answer, in a nutshell, is really important. In fact, we go so far as to say that a vanity is the centrepiece in the bathroom; something that the rest of the design centres around. Don't let this scare you off, we're here to help channel (or discover!) your inner designer, we are passionate about bathroom aesthetic and function, and work with you to create the bathroom of your dreams.

Now more than ever, we are seeing the importance of space-saving vanities as houses get smaller and half-sized bathrooms are becoming more common. This doesn't mean that you can't still treat vanities as a piece of art in their own respect; in fact, we encourage people to design their bathroom based around the look and feel of the vanity. Vanities are endlessly customisable, from the materials and colours, through to the texture and storage options that they offer, allowing the homeowner to be as creative as they desire.

Over the years it has proven to be more popular to have a wall-hung vanity due to the aesthetic and ease of keeping the floor clean, however a wall-hung option does minimise storage. Because of the importance of organisation and order, we are now seeing floor-standing options in the spotlight, and cabinet mirrors are making a come-back for the same reason.

Before embarking on your journey to the perfect vanity, be sure to chat to one of our expert team members instore.

TAPWARE

OFTEN OVERLOOKED, BATHROOM TAPWARE CAN MAKE OR BREAK A BATHROOM. THE FIRST THING TO CONSIDER IS YOUR WATER PRESSURE - DO YOU HAVE A HOT WATER CYLINDER, OR DO YOU RUN ON GAS? THAT'S ABOUT AS TRICKY AS IT GETS; ONCE YOU KNOW THAT YOU CAN START THINKING ABOUT THE FORM AND THE FUNCTIONALITY THAT YOU WANT FROM YOUR TAP.

As we have noticed over the last 18 months, renovators and designers are moving towards taller vessel mixers and wall-based mixers, as these complement the trend towards stand alone vessel basins. In terms of finishes, if the world is your oyster, the bathroom is your pearl! While we were once limited to just chrome, we now have options spanning natural metals finishes, brushed colours, stainless steel and black. We like to encourage our customers to wipe down their tapware after each use (or as often as is possible) to keep it looking as fresh as the day it was installed.

Our tapware range is about as extensive as it gets, we recommend browsing through our Bathroom Book or online to get an idea of what you like, and then pop instore to chat through your thoughts with one of our friendly team.

KITCHEN TAPWARE

NOTHING BRINGS FAMILY AND FRIENDS TOGETHER LIKE SHARING A MEAL, WHICH IS WHY THE KITCHEN IS OFTEN CONSIDERED THE HEART OF THE HOME. WE ALREADY KNOW THAT KIWIS LOVE TO COOK AND ENTERTAIN, AND A KITCHEN REFRESH IS THE PERFECT EXCUSE FOR MANY TO SPEND MORE TIME IN THE KITCHEN, DISCOVERING WHAT YOU LOVE (AND DON'T LOVE) TO COOK.

When it comes to household tapware, the kitchen is where you can let your creative juices flow. Bathroom and kitchen tapware don't need to match, and many like to think of their kitchen tapware as a statement piece. Talk to one of our friendly Mico team about all the different options for your kitchen tapware, from subtle to sizeable and everything in-between.

Looks aside, the most popular tapware options boast intelligent functions and ergonomic design. Functions include pull-out spray for ease of use when preparing the vegetables or filling up that vase that won't fit under the spout.

Households with a focus on hygiene appreciate solid designs with minimal grooves which can eliminate food build up in a busy home. Once you're happy with the overall design and functionality of your tapware, consider including one of these add-ons for the ultimate in kitchen convenience. It may seem frivolous now but give it a few months and you'll wonder how you ever lived without one of these!

SHOWER TAPWARE

Is there anything worse than jumping around in the shower on a cold day, desperately trying to wash your hair, as luke-warm water dribbles meagrely from the shower head? Or your kids getting out of the shower after Saturday sport, still covered in mud and grass? A shower can be so much more than a necessity, a simple step in your daily routine. With the right tapware, a shower can be transformed into a spa-like experience, a time of the day that you look forward to and relish in the moment.

Shower tapware is no longer just about how it looks, although of course that is still important. Bathroom tapware is usually picked out at the same time, so that your shower, bath, and vanity match. This helps to pull the entire bathroom aesthetic together therefore, it's important to think about the type of finish you like best; and no, we're not just limited to chrome like we used to be. If you're into a metallic look then the choice is yours, whether that's stainless steel or a matte finish, gunmetal or brushed brass – there will be an option that matches just about every type of space and look you are going for.

In terms of functionality, it's exciting to see where we've come to with tapware in the past few years. Having multiple shower outlets is a common occurrence and can be an affordable luxury – think waterfall heads, side jets, double showerheads... the list is (almost) endless!

Clever technology in the water mixing process is where the magic happens; air can be added into the water for a rain effect, for example.

Your shower experience is something not to be taken lightly; we recommend booking a free consultation with one of our experts who will happily explain the ins and outs of all the options Mico has to offer.

INSTALLING A NEW SHOWER CAN BE AN EXCITING PROCESS; WHETHER THAT'S SIMPLY REPLACING A SHOWER THAT'S ALREADY THERE OR IDEATING AND BUILDING SOMETHING COMPLETELY NEW.

As it's a high-traffic part of the house that gets used daily (if not multiple times a day) it is imperative that you create something you love, and that is going to enhance your daily routine. Before you think of tapware, it's helpful to think of the shower space itself; can you install a glass wall to create an enclosure, foregoing the need for a door? This is a trend that we suspect is here to stay. Or, if you're pressed for space, why not remove the shower-over-bath, and create a walk-in shower space instead?

Storage isn't something we usually associate with showers; however, a busy family does seem to quickly amass many bathing necessities and accessories. To combat this, lots of people are now opting for a shower with built in alcoves with flat or moulded walls for simple, stylish storage. Once you have decided on the overall shape and style of your shower, head to our section on shower tapware to explore the options Mico has to offer in that space.

Before you embark on this journey, we recommend speaking with a Mico team member who will happily explain the custom, bespoke and more straight-forward approaches to the new shower in your home.

BATHS

Baths are both a luxury and often a necessity, whether it's a candle lit bubble bath to try out that scented bath bomb you got for your birthday, or you have a busy family home where a bath is a must.

While it may not be as highly used as your shower, baths play an important role in your bathroom and can make or break a cohesive bathroom look.

Free-standing baths are the current trend, with a full range of styles to match any bathroom aesthetic. These tubs can be both the centrepiece of a bathroom, or the final piece that pulls together the whole bathroom look.

While a bath's aesthetic seems the most crucial part from a design point of view, it's important to choose the right type and size of bath for the space you have.

Recently, smaller tubs have become popular as people opt for more storage space or larger showers and vanities. While this may sound like a fair trade-off, space-conscious bath lovers do have options. Having a shower over bath has become the solution of choice for those who wish to save space while not reducing the size of their bath.

Textured baths are all the rage at the moment. While acrylic baths are still popular there has been increasing trend towards baths made of concrete and stone. This can enhance the overall look and feel of a bathroom greatly. Texture and material can affect the weight of the bath, so we recommend you talk to one of our knowledgeable team members to help decide what kind of bath is right for you.

BASINS

Front and centre, wash your hands or brush your teeth, basins are a key element to any bathroom. While the functionality of basins remains largely the same, the design elements of basins are varied. From textured stone and concrete to classic vitreous china, basins come in many shapes and colours.

While colours may not be a new feature for basins, they are newly popular. Lately there has been a trend towards pretty pastels and even more recently natural/moody colours. With colours like blue and green becoming favourites among basin buyers.

Similarly, to colour, basins made from different materials have become increasingly sort after. Made to fit a more specific and stylised aesthetic, basins made of materials such as stone and concrete and metals are all the rage. They add character to a bathroom and even set the tone for a complete bathroom look.

While it is true that the activities we perform at the sink are routine and don't vary much, there is an aspect of utility that varies from person to person. The most obvious utility aspect is the size and depth of a basin. It is completely up to an individual and everybody will have their own preference. If you aren't sure which basin size is right for you, one of our experts would be more than happy to help. Other utility trends include the move away from plugs to pop-up wastes. The modern pop-up wastes are much more stylish and practical than traditional plugs as well as being attached to the sink, so they're harder to lose. While it may seem like a lot to think about, with the help of one of our bathroom consultants this process can be fun and easy, so feel free to reach out if you are looking for a new basin.

TOILETS

Toilets are a core element of a bathroom. The comfortable and familiar traditional white toilets have maintained their popularity throughout the years. While the look and feel of toilets remains constant, the desire for a more modern toilet experience has increased. The focus on modernity has given rise to the use of stylish slim-line system tops and seats. This sleek and clean design gives bathrooms a more modern feeling while not having to sacrifice any colour, texture, or material choices. Wider bathroom design choices are also influencing toilets, with customisable flush panels that are made to match other accessories in the bathroom being a popular new installation. This helps to pull together a complete bathroom look.

With all this modern design focus in mind, it can be easy to look over some of the important things we need from a toilet. With a newly heightened focus on hygiene, the new, more hygienic rimless toilets are becoming standard. Once you've sorted out the hygiene factor it is very important to make sure your toilet experience is comfortable as well. Higher toilet pans are a very popular way of ensuring you're comfortable. High pans can provide some relief for your knees and back, which makes it especially popular amongst people who spend a lot of time in their home office.

Because toilets are so important, we recommend booking a free consultation with one of our Mico team members, to make sure that your toilet suits both your practical and design needs.

ACCESSORIES

Bigger is better as elegant mirrors are used to create a sense of space, adding light and dimension to a room. Whether you go for wall-to-wall or something with an intricate frame, size does matter. Rounded versions are becoming a go-to for interior designers, some featuring a decorative glass shelf across the bottom, with most backlit. To combine aesthetic and function, recessed mirrored cabinets help maximize storage, while the new wave of smart mirrors is starting to make an impact.

Utility and function might not be something you think about when you are looking for accessories, but it is more important than many of us realise. Heat is a considered function of some bathroom accessories, who likes stepping out of the shower into a cold bathroom? Heated towel rails remain a popular fixture – especially for those who love a toasty towel in the winter months. Demister mirrors are another popular heated bathroom accessory, people want to be able to see themselves when they get out of the shower – no one likes blow-drying blind! Hooks and handles to hang your clothes while you shower have also become very popular. Not wanting to get your dressing gown wet or using the trendy shower-steam method to iron out your clothes being both very good reason to want a hook in your bathroom.

We have a wide range of accessories to suit every bathroom. If you are struggling to decide on the many facets of multiple necessary accessories, feel free to talk to one of our bathroom consultants, they'd be more than happy to help you out.
